The aim of the project is to recruit Jordanian in remote areas with high rates of poverty and unemployment, through teaching, training, and requalifying the unemployed graduate students and empowering these areas at the economic and social levels with special focus on women.

The envisaged benefits of the Network is:

- i) create, through social networking sites, networking opportunities to aggregate and support ideas, experiences and competences in a common design of women's skills development to play an active role in the social- economic project reference contexts.
- ii) The establishment of the network will make it possible to achieve effective interaction between the project partners to solve unemployment problems.
- iii) the ability to participate in common actions between the members of the JOB_JO Network, such as: seminars, submission of proposals and development of projects, submission of publications in scientific journals and scientific conferences.
